

O Come, All Ye Faithful is often called by its Latin title Adeste Fideles. Written by John Francis Wade, it probably was sung by Catholics in the late 18th century and made its way to England by way of Portugal. Consequently, some English people still call it The Portuguese Hymn.

O Come, All Ye Faithful

John Francis Wade

Moderately

1

mf O come, all ye faith - ful, joy - ful and tri - um - phant, O

3

Duet: Student plays one octave higher.

Moderately

RH 1

LH mp 5

5

9

13

17

mf

p mp

rit.

1 2 8va